

APRIL 12 TO 17

SALONE DEL MOBILE MILAN

↑ At the Milan fair, avant-garde carpet manufacturer Nodus will present the wool Roots rug, designed by new collaborator Matali Crasset.
 ← At Spazio Rossana Orlandi, Jaime Hayón will unveil a new tableware line for Japan's Kutani Choemon, including delicate ceramic cups and other vessels.

The biggest furniture show on earth turns 50 this year – all the more reason to check out the hundreds of exhibitors (including those at the EuroLucce lighting biennial) at the Rho fairgrounds, on Milan's outskirts. Back in the city, the jam-packed design festival spans everything from showroom launches and parties at B&B Italia, Moroso and Driade, to showcases of the design vanguard at Spazio Rossana Orlandi (hint: Jaime Hayón will unveil new ceramics for Kutani Choemon and insect-inspired furniture for Sé London), and throughout the industrial neighbourhood of Zona Ventura Lambrate. Even the city's storied landmarks will receive an overhaul. The Interni Mutant Architecture show will invade the 15th-century colonnades and courtyards of the Università degli Studi di Milano, with installations on sustainability. Attilio Stocchi will stage a visionary Theatrum Naturae in the heart of the city, summoning the natural phenomena of the Po River. And Denis Santachiara will present the future, making art of scientific discoveries against the backdrop of the Piazza Duomo. cosmit.it

WATER: THE EXHIBITION
 TORONTO

This massive ROM exhibit examines the world's most precious resource from scientific, environmental and cultural perspectives, highlighting large-scale engineering projects – such as China's controversial Three Gorges Dam – that seek to harness its remarkable power. Interactive displays include a fog screen that evokes a virtual waterfall, and walk-through reconstructions of a water-carved slot canyon (left). rom.on.ca

COVERINGS
 LAS VEGAS

North America's mammoth tile and stone expo returns to snazzy Vegas. Over 1,000 national and international exhibitors showcase trends and innovations, including Atlas Concorde's natural-finish ceramic tile, and Florida Tile's decorative glass mosaics (right). Covering every facet of the industry, guest speakers and seminars round out the show. coverings.com

MARCH 30 TO JULY 3
WIM CROUWEL: A GRAPHIC ODYSSEY
 LONDON

The Dutch graphic designer who created the geometric New Alphabet typeface also single-handedly crafted the identity for the Stedelijk Museum, helping to shape the visual landscape of the Netherlands. The Design Museum celebrates Crouwel's prolific career with a 60-year retrospective that includes original sketches, catalogues and posters for Stedelijk exhibitions (left). designmuseum.org
